The world doth move; so do we.

True, we were fired from the corner to which we are now moving, but we have got back into favor and will soon occupy our handsome new building. New stock? Well everybody well knows our former stock was pretty well disposed of. Everything entirely new, larger, better and greater variety of goods than ever before. Watch us build our displays in interior and in the windows and come and see us as soon as we open.

SHAD FISHING ON THE HUDSON—HAULING IN A BIG SEINE.

Shad fishing on the Hudson is just now at its height. The silver belled fish are making their annual pilgrimage to the north and are swarming in all the rivers from the Chesapeake to Long Island sound. This view shows the hauling in of a big seine. Drift and gill nets are also used, but seining is by far the most picturesque process.

SAILORS' HOME IS WITHOUT "RUNNERS"

Captain Bray of the Honolulu Sailors' Home is now monarch of all the surveys in connection with that institution. He has no "runners" in his employ, having "fired" the two men who formerly represented the Home along the front.

"The runners proved to be dishonest," said Captain Bray this morning, "and I had to get rid of them. It seems almost impossible to secure honest runners to handle the business of the Home on the front."

Runners Imbs and Brooks used to look after the affairs of the Sailors' Home on the waterfront, interviewing captains with reference to men who were desired by skippers. Imbs was "fired" some time ago because Captain Bray could not stand his methods.

"He wouldn't do things my way," says Captain Bray, "and he was all the time looking out for opportunities to feather his own nest in a manner which was not strictly honorable."

Brooks left Honolulu for Australia in the last steamer. He was a hustler for himself, but he did a great deal of harm to the Sailors' Home by his methods. In Australian ports, particularly Sydney and Newcastle, Brooks is well known as a sharper. Captain Bray, as soon as he became familiar with the ways of Brooks, discharged him from the service of the Sailors' Home and started to look around for men who would conduct things in the way he thought proper. Having failed to find men who suit him, Captain Bray now announces that he will conduct all business for the Sailors' Home himself, until such time as a man to his liking is discovered who will take charge of the outside work for him.

FREDERICK WARDE AND THE GLASSIC DRAMA

In spite of the decadence of public taste in matters theatrical in the past five years, and the consequent temptation for actors of ability to waste their talents in unworthy plays that please only for the moment, for the sake of mere pecuniary emolument, Frederick Warde has persistently clung to the legitimate drama, firm in the belief that it is but a question of time when Shakespeare and the high or dramatists will resume their place, justly regarded as the best and noblest form of dramatic entertainment. Recent events justify his faith in this regard, and it is encouraging to note that the so-called problem plays, with their thinly veiled indecency and disgusting double entendre, no longer please the metropolitan theater-goers and the so-called burlesque and extravaganza are relegated to the minor theaters and variety houses, where they justly belong. In contrast to these meretricious productions comes a grand old play, "Virginus," with its integrity of manhood, and its atmosphere of virtue and purity; with it an actor, who, by years of sound study and experience, together with thoroughly developed ability, justly stands at the head of his profession. Such a combination is pleasant to contemplate and gives assurance of complete satisfaction with the performance to be given on Thursday evening next at the Opera House.

This promises to be one of the greatest "first nights" in Honolulu. Among those who will be there are H. E. Lewis and H. W. Lake, who will occupy the loges; Prince David and party, and Acting Governor Cooper and party, who will occupy the boxes. A. Young, W. W. Goodale, C. Atherton, Miss Alice Campbell and eight friends. A. F. Wall, Robert Shingle, E. F. Bishop, Capt. U. S. G. White, J. B. Castle, Thos. E. Pettus, P. Armstrong, Mrs. Henry Castle, Chas. H. Cooke, Mrs. Fred. Lowrey, W. H. Gifford, C. J. Hutchins, W. E. Hall, Andrew Brown, Judge Galbraith, Judge Esce, H. R. Macfarlane, Ed. Dekum, Dr. E. C. Waterhouse, Col. J. W. Jones, J. A. Kennedy, W. A. Love, S. F. Chillingworth, Wm. M. Graham, J. F. FOR A LODGING PLACE

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS IN DISCUSSION ON MATTER

Proposition Laid on Shelf, Association Not Being in Condition to Take It Up at Present Time.

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting last night at 7:30 o'clock in the secretary's office. The business of the association constituted the first subject for discussion. It was found that of the $2500 of indebtedness which was standing at the end of the year, $2000 had already been raised and it is hoped that the remaining $500 will be raised shortly.

The question of the association leasing and conducting a lodging house, or a floor or two of some building as lodgings for young men, was taken up next and discussed at length. Some time ago, this idea was brought out and it was then hoped that the association would be able to lease a floor in the building which is to be erected on Hotel street between the association and Young buildings. It was found, however, that this was impossible but, since then, various offers have been submitted to the Y. M. C. A. of buildings or floors for that purpose.

While the first of these offers were of buildings which were no distant from the Y. M. C. A. headquarters it would be practically impossible for the association to keep them under its direct supervision, there have lately been offered several places which are much nearer and, quite recently, an offer was made of a floor in a building which is in the immediate vicinity of the Y. M. C. A. building.

The question as to whether this offer should be accepted or not caused a lively discussion. It was finally decided that the present time was inopportune, owing to the fact that the association is in debt. The matter was laid on the shelf and will probably not be considered before the association gets a new building of its own, when arrangements will be made so that a number of rooms will be put aside for the aforementioned purpose in the top story of the place.

The various committees of the association which were elected at the annual meeting two weeks ago will now soon be called to meet. In most cases, the meetings will be held at private residences.

Present at yesterday's meeting were J. B. Atherton, R. H. Trent, J. P. Cooke, C. H. Atherton and H. C. Brown.
